Now here, then, merciful death closes a pathetic tragedy as William

INVESTIGATING AT $20,000 AN HOUR
Article I

By WILLIAM HELM, JR.
More than 300 government investigations into different kinds of business since last June. More than 25,000 Federal officials and clerks working full time at lifting the lid from other people's affairs.
More than $50,000,000 paid out of the public treasury every year to Uncle Sam's Paul Pry.

Such is the record at Washington. There is no sizable business interest in the United States that hasn't been investigated by the Federal government at public expense. Some of them, notably the coal business, have been investigated as many as seven times within the past ten years. Others, such as the oil business, have permanent and lasting engagements, apparently for all time, with the government's investigators.

Approximately 30 different branches of the government are going full blast daily at the investigation of private business. Not all of these investigations are hostile. Nearly all of them are routine.
They flood the business world with questionnaires, give employment to a small army at Washington and necessitate the employment of another small army on the part of the nation's business to answer their interminable questions.

From Maternity to Copyrights.
More investigations are being planned—plenty of them. Everything from maternity to copyrights, from sobriety to radio, is under the watchful eye of the Federal agent. Regulation follows in his wake, down even to the salary a firm may pay its officers.

With one breath business rails at an all-investigating government at Washington and with the next asks it to increase its scope of investigation. As this is written, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, supposedly representing American business in its greatest fullness and finest flower, is planning a brand new kind of Federal inquiry and has actively interested two Federal bureaus, internal revenue and census, in the plan. What the chamber wants is a census of storekeepers and jobbers graded according to the kinds of goods they sell at wholesale or retail.

It wants the bureau of internal revenue to include with the tax form it sends to all business firms
a new form to be filled out in detail and sent back to Washington for the census bureau to handle in totals by cities and States. If the plan is carried out, it means added expense for the taxpayer and added work for the business firms of the country. Yet it undoubtedly would accomplish a desirable purpose for there is nowhere in existence reliable information as to the number of retailers and jobbers, by kinds and localities, in the United States.

Congress Part Small.
A government investigation to many persons means an investigation by a committee of the House or Senate. In reality, Congress is doing only a small part of the national snooping. In committees, more than 50 in number in each House, hold many hearings every year and summon witnesses from far and near, yet the sum total of its activity is small when compared with the routine day-in-and-day-out investigations conducted by the boards, bureaus and commissions of the executive branch.

The bureaus, for instance, of census, foreign and domestic commerce, mines, labor statistics, women, children, customs, internal revenue, geological survey, public health service, public roads, immigration, conciliation, employment, and others send hundreds of tons of questionnaires annually through the mails, all under frank, to business firms throughout the country.
Some of them hold inquiries and

Device Changes Color Of Dress on Wearer

Seattle, Wash., April 25 (By A. P.).—A multicolor electrical impress invented by Justus C.
Zubli, an engineer in the Puget navy yard at Bremerton, Wash., to print any color on any surface, is among the inventions to be shown at the national inventors' exposition in Portland, Oreg., June 17 to 19.

A woman wearing a white dress may step into a department store and, without removing the dress, have it changed to red for the afternoon and go back and have it made blue for the evening.

The machine may be taken into a home and in a few minutes change the design of rug or the color of wall paper. Plain glass windows may be given fancy designs. Advertising signs and billboards which take painters days to complete might be painted with this machine in a few minutes Zubli asserts.

DYING, HE CLAIMS CLARK "HEIRS" AS DAUGHTERS

Man of Same Name as Late Senator Paralleled Early Life of Statesman.

HOLDS DAUGHTERS MISLED

Butte, Mont., April 25 (By A. P.).
The hopes of three women for shares in the $50,000,000 estate of the late Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, seemed shattered tonight following the death yesterday of another William A. Clark, a resident of Butte, who signed a statement saying that he, and not the late Senator Clark, was the father of the women.

Mrs. Effie Clark McWilliams, of Clarkdale, Mo., and Mrs. Alma Clark Hines, of Orrick, Mo., and Mrs. Addie Clark Miller, of Denver, joined a short time ago in a claim that they were entitled to a portion of Senator Clark's estate on the ground that they were his daughters by an early marriage at Stewartsville, Mo.

The situation resulted from the parallel lives of the two men, who bore the same name, and who, about 50 years ago followed the same occupation—that of school teacher—in the same vicinity in Missouri.

Both men left Missouri within a few years and went West and by an even more strange coincidence, both went to Montana to seek their fortunes.

William Andrews Clark, who died last night, signed a statement when he became ill several days ago declaring himself to be the father of the three women and telling of his movements since 1879, when he left Stewartsville.

ITALY SAID TO PLAN MOBILIZATION IN JUNE

British Labor Organ Asserts
Rome War Office Is Busy Clearing for Action.

London, April 25 (By A. P.).—
The Chiasso (Switzerland) correspondent of the Daily Herald, labor organ, claims to be able authoritatively to confirm the report that the Italian war office is busily engaged in military preparations. The correspondent understands that urgent instructions have been issued to the army staff to have everything ready for mobilization for June. He reports intense activity among the military divisions stationed on the Adriatic coast.

He quotes as significant a statement published by the newspaper Corriere Padano, which is controlled by Mussolini's friend, Italo Balbo: "Europe must peacefully grant us some colonies, or we will sooner or later take them by force. Fascism must cross the frontiers of Italy or perish like an unfulfilled promise."

Archer Beats Golfers In 18-Hole Match

Pinehurst, N. C., April 25 (By A. P.).—The Archer defeated the golfer in an 18-hole match here this afternoon, the bow and arrows of Philip Rounseville, of New Orleans, triumphing over the clubs of Richard S. Tufts and Palmer Maples, of Pinehurst. The archer's margin was one stroke.

Rounseville used a 6-foot bow and a 14-inch arrow and his target was a golf ball on each green. Tufts and Maples had a best ball score of 71, while Rounseville drew his bow 70 times.

NATIONAL FESTIVAL
TO CONTINUE A WEEK

Will Follow Ancient Traditions, but a Wireless Station Will Be Opened.

Teheran, Persia, April 25 (By A.
P.).—The new Shah of Persia, Reza-Khan Pehlevi, who from the humble station of groom and trooper in the Persian Cossacks rose to the position of dictator and then seized the throne, was crowned today amid scenes of splendor.
Festivities followed which will continue throughout the week.
For the most part these will follow ancient traditions of Persia, but a modern feature will be the opening of a wireless station.

Rise Was Spectacular.

London, April 25 (By A. P.).— Reza Khan's rise from stable boy to Shah of Persia is vividly portrayed by C. J. H. Mackenzie-Kennedy in the Evening News.

Born vivand when he had money,
a soldier when he craved action,
a man of the world, ever graceful and obliging—that is the writer's impression of the Persian dictator.
The new shah, in his opinion, intends to bring Persia up-to-date, so far as material importance.

Mr. Mackenzie-Kennedy first met Reza Khan in Petrograd in 1912, and he believes it is unlikely that Reza will introduce any "nonsense" about democracy in his scheme of things.

"Reza," he writes, "is enough democracy in himself for Persia today. I first met Reza Khan in Petrograd under circumstances typical of the man. At the time Turkey was at war with Bulgaria and Russia was in almost open alliance with Bulgaria. Reza Khan was wearing in the streets of the Russian capital the uniform of a colonel of the Turkish bashibazouks (irregulars)."

Sent to Constantinople.

"He was then in his early thirties and had been sent to Constantinople as a special envoy of Persia's sympathy and to take a commission in the Turkish army and fight on the Turkish side in the war with Bulgaria and other Balkan states.
But he evidently found this rather dull, for he made his way to Petrograd as soon as he could."

"Reza had spent some time in Paris," he writes, "but was recalled to Teheran none too soon, for he had

Snow-Laden Gale Strikes Wisconsin

Milwaukee, Wis., April 25 (By A. P.).—A 50-mile-an-hour gale, accompanied by snow, whipped across Wisconsin last night, the force of the storm apparently being centered around Green Bay. Reports from there said many cities in northeastern Wisconsin were in darkness, due to wires and poles being down. In Milwaukee poles went down and windows in department stores were wrecked by the wind.

Society Matron Loses Bulldog Worth $500

Ill luck and a $500 black and white Boston bull dog arrived together yesterday at Pembroke Park, Pierce Mill road and Connecticut avenue northwest, the home of Mrs.
Alfred P. Thom, prominent society matron. The dog was sent on approval to Mrs. Thom, but fifteen minutes after its arrival it ran off.

The dog was owned by a Philadelphia firm, who sent it on approval. A liberal reward is offered for its return. "Chummy," 5½ months old, a Chinese chow dog, valued at $150, belonging to Glover H. Holleman, 2021 Virginia avenue northwest, also was reported missing and a reward offered for its return.

Stronghold of Druses Captured by French

Beirut, Syria, April 25 (By A.
P.).—The French troops today captured Seudela, the principal stronghold of the insurgents in the Djebel Druse district, after a six-hour action.

Mare Is Injured Trying To Leap Over Machine

"Lady," a mare owned by the Potomac Riding club, fared poorly yesterday with the pedestrian's method of solving the traffic problem. She jumped while crossing the street. However, she tried to jump over an automobile rather than away from it.

She was taken to the animal hospital of Dr. John Lockwood, 905 New Jersey avenue northwest, to be treated for severe cuts along the breast.

"Lady" threw her rider, T. J.
Marshall, a student, at Nineteenth and B streets northwest.
She started toward Pennsylvania avenue, and soon found herself the object of a chase by an automobile. She attempted to solve the whole situation by jumping over another automobile driven by Aaron B. Vail, 1580 Newton street northwest, at Tenth and Rhode Island avenue northwest.
The windshield of the car was broken, but no one except "Lady" was injured.

$1,000,000 FIXED AS LOSS HERE IN UNSOUND DEALS

Better Business Bureau Head Says Women Clerks Are Easiest Victims.

GREATER DRIVE PLANNED

One million dollars was taken from Washington in unsound investment for the year ended April 1, 1926, according to an analysis just completed by the better business bureau and made public yesterday by Louis Rothschild, director.

That sum represents $2 for every man, woman and child in the District, Mr. Rothschild pointed out.
More than $4,000,000 was jeopardized in stock and land promotions in Washington that failed to materialize. The bureau director estimated that his organization was instrumental in saving $500,000 from unsound promotions.

Women government clerks were said to be the largest losers from dishonest promotion schemes. Considerable money was also reported to have been lost by business men, who are supposed to be well versed in investments.

The bureau announced that it would enlarge and expand its "Before You Invest—Investigate" campaign during the coming year.

DEATH THREATS SENT TO BANKER'S WIDOW

Lack of Will Disposing of $500,000 Estate Thought to Inspire Notes.

Chicago, Ill., April 25 (By A. P.).
Postal and police officers today began an investigation of threatening letters and telephone calls received by Mrs. William J. Klingenberg since the death of her husband, former president of the Sheridan Trust & Savings Bank, nine days ago.

Disposition of her husband's $500,000 estate was believed by Mrs. Klingenberg to be the reason for the threats. There are several claimants to the estate, for which no will was left. One of the notes purported to quote two persons who had been offered $10,000 to "put her out of the way."

"Zip," Noted Freak For Barnum, Is Dead

New York, April 25 (By A. P.).
"Zip," known to circus patrons the world over, died in Bellevue hospital last night.

On the hospital record "Zip" was described as William Johnson, 83 years old. "Zip" was first exploited by the late P. T. Barnum, and acquired the name of the "What-Is-It?"

Neck Broken on Stage, Comedy Actor Dies

Chicago, April 25.—Ralph Mac-Kenzie, director and principal character in a comedy sketch, died today of a broken neck suffered Friday night in a performance on the stage of the State-Lake Vaudeville theater before an audience of 2,000.

MacKenzie was playing the part of a college professor who was being hazed by students. He was being heaved into the air in a blanket, but some one misjudged the distance and he came down headlong, apparently while the blanket was taut. No one saw his head strike the floor but he grew limp and was carried into the limp. The audience thought it part of the play and applauded vigorously.

Italian Dictator Also Has the Gravest Problem in Old Austrian Tyrol.

Berlin, April 25 (By A. P.).—
Reports from Lugano, on the Swiss-Italian border, to the Voissache Zeitung tell of a serious split among the Italian fascists. A large army, it is declared, under Roberto Farnaci, who recently resigned as secretary general of the fascist party, is starting a movement against Premier Mussolini in the eastern provinces of Italy, especially Venice, Udine and Trieste. Recently, it is alleged, tumultuous clashes have occurred between the Farnaci and Mussolini groups.

More serious disturbances are said to have been averted only because the carabinieri were ordered not to go to extremes.

The Voissache Zeitung asserts that it has received a report from a special correspondent, known to be absolutely reliable, attributing the ignorance of the outside world of these events and nonreceipt of news from the paper's regular correspondent at Rome to the severity of the Italian censorship.

Mussolini's Tyrol Problem.

Basle, Switzerland, April 25 (By A. P.).—Seemingly undisputed master of Italy, Benito Mussolini has in the Italian Tyrol, which before the war was part of Austria, a political problem of so delicate a nature that it will undoubtedly prove a great test of his patience and skill.

In a speech before the chamber of deputies in February last, Mussolini declared with reference to Brenner Pass that "fascist Italy can, if necessary, carry further beyond its tricolor, but never lower it."
Now, however, he must by tactical policies seek to win over to Italy some 150,000 persons of German descent who dominate a district which Italy calls the Upper Adige, but which the Austrians and Germans call Southern Tyrol.

A special correspondent of the Associated Press recently has visited this district and has just returned to Basle. Many persons in the affected district declare that Mussolini has begun wrong, because, contrary to what Austria did to Italian residents of Austria before the war, Mussolini has banned the teaching of German in the elementary schools throughout an immense area occupied for centuries

Foremost of Italy's Auto Racers Killed

Cerda, Sicily, April 25 (By A.
P.).—Julius Masetti, Italy's foremost automobile racing driver, was killed today when his car overturned near here. Piloting a De-Lage machine, Masetti was competing in the Targa Florio race. He had traversed about 15 miles of the first lap when the accident occurred.

Masetti won the Targa Florio race over the same course in 1922.
He also was victorious in the Royal prize of Rome last year.

2 Boys, 9 Years Old, Hold Up Child of 5

Special to The Washington Post.
Mantowoc, Wis., April 25.—Probably the age record for banditry was established here yesterday when two boys 9 years old held up a child of 5, carrying his savings bank book, took it to the bank and cashed it in, receiving $3.65. Before the holdup was discovered the juvenile robbers had spent 16 cents.

English Channel Gale Stops Ship Service

Dover, England, April 25 (By A.
P.).—A wild gale in the channel today caused the suspension of all Dover to Ostend passenger services.
Cross-channel steamers which braved the trip had terrible experiences.

The steamer Ville de Liege, which left Dover at noon for Ostend with 60 passengers, is passing the night at sea taking shelter in the Downs waiting for the seas to moderate.

MAN IS ROBBED TWICE; STORE AND HOME LOOTED

G. E. Hunt Loses Clothing and Gems While Sleeping and Loss Was Not All.

THIEVES RANSACK OFFICE

George E. Hunt, 1421 Twenty-seventh street northwest, was the victim of an unusual double robbery Saturday night, he told police yesterday. While Hunt was sleeping Saturday night thieves broke into his home, ransacked several bureau drawers and escaped with clothing and jewelry valued at $200.

Hunt when he awakened reported the robbery to police and then went to 2700 O street northwest, where he conducts a delicatessen store. He found that thieves had also broken into the store Saturday night and stolen merchandise and money totaling $42. Once more he visited police headquarters and reported his loss.

Burglars gained entrance to the office of the Flint Motor Co., Seventeenth and V streets northwest, with a duplicate key early yesterday, broke open a safe and escaped with more than $50, according to a report made to police by Winfield I.
Hicks, the manager of the company,
who discovered the burglary.

Detectives Patrick O'Brien and Thomas Nalley, of headquarters, who investigated the robbery, found the office littered with papers which had been thrown from the safe.
Hicks could not determine the exact amount of money missing from the safe, but told police it was more than $50.

George W. Farr, manager of a gasoline station at Benning road and Kenilworth avenue northeast, reported that thieves had broken into the office early yesterday and stole cigars, soft drinks and 40 pennies.

MEXICO SEIZES MINE OWNED BY AMERICANS

Guarded by Troops and Is of Embassy Asked.

Mexico City, April 25 (By A. P.).
George F. Zoffman, manager of the Cincio Minas, an American mining company in the state of Jalisco, has had a lengthy conference with James R. Sheffield, the American Ambassador, regarding his company's labor troubles, describing the situation as dangerous. The property of the company is being guarded by federal troops, in compliance with a request made recently by the embassy.
Demanding higher wages, the workers went on strike in February. Local courts decided in favor of the Cincio Minas, and the miners appealed to the supreme court.

Pending action by the supreme court, the authorities have placed an embargo on the company's property and material, valued by Mr.
Zoffman at $400,000. The man-

LIMIT SET ON WAR MEMORIALS BUILT BY U.S. IN EUROPE

American Battle Monuments Commission Feels Sufficient Number Erected.

Coolidge Favors Move Started by Pershing

In Future All Commemorative Projects Must Serve Useful Purpose.

Action limiting erection by Americans of world war memorials in Europe has been taken by the American battle monuments commission. It will decline to approve future plans for memorials in Europe by States, municipalities, military organizations or private individuals of the United States with the exception of ones useful to inhabitants of neighborhoods in which they are to be erected, such as bridges, fountains, public buildings, gateways or other public improvements.

The resolution embodying this action was shown to President Coolidge by Gen. John J. Pershing, of the commission, following its adoption and was approved. It can be made effective, because the French and Belgian governments have agreed not to allow erection of American memorials unless they have been approved by the commission. The commission hopes that those interested will cooperate in carrying out the resolution so that it will be relieved of the embarrassment of not approving memorials submitted.

Pershing Started Action.

The question of limiting erection of American memorials in Europe was brought up by Gen. Pershing. He expressed himself as concerned that so many American memorials are being planned for erection in Europe, and said that if something were not done to prevent it he feared the country would exceed the bounds of good taste in this regard.

It was shown that battlefields fought over by American troops in Europe have been battlefields all through history, and even during the world war they had in most cases been contested one or more times by troops of other countries.

Conditions on the battlefields, as explained, tend to make even a moderate number of American memorials conspicuous and too many would create an entirely erroneous impression of the American object in erecting them. In this connection, it was said, it should be considered that the United States was fighting during the latter part of the war only and had fewer troops engaged and lighter losses than either France, England or Italy.

It decided that there were many ways in which the people of this country could erect memorials to particular units or to State troops and at the same time assist the people of various places of France.

It is inclined to the view that after the government's memorial project in Europe is completed, and after erection of useful memorial structures in France, such as bridges, public buildings, etc., any additional expression of gratitude and love for our soldiers can best be shown by memorials erected in the United States, such for example as the white Doric temple proposed for erection in Washington, to commemorate the soldiers from the District of Columbia. These memorials would be seen and enjoyed by soldiers as well as their families and relatives, and upkeep would involve no problems.

Crew Wins Red Cross Award.

The junior life-saving crew of the recreation department, Grand Rapids, Mich., has been awarded the Lockwood cup for 1926 by the American Red Cross. The cup is emblematic of the largest number of qualified life savers enrolled in one year by a junior life-saving crew. The organization enrolled 160 boys and girls during the year 1925.

Witnesses Get $10,000.

In mileage and fees the commission has paid more than $10,000 to the witnesses at those hearings, notwithstanding that most of the proceedings were held at points convenient to the witnesses to be examined. Among others, the commission during that period has investigated the following:

Arkansas Wholesale Grocers association, American Association of Advertising Agencies, John B. Stetson, the West Coast theatres, National Cash Register Co., Continental Baking corporation, United States Steel corporation, Famous Players-Lasky corporation, General Electric Co., American Photo Engravers association, Toledo Pipe Threading Machine Co., Royal Baking Powder Co., Pittsburgh Coal Co. of Wisconsin, Cream of Wheat Co., International Shoe Co., Calumet Baking Co., North Dakota Wholesale Grocers association, and the California Retail Fuel Dealers association. More than 100 others make up the total.

The commission spends about $1,000,000 a year in investigating business and publishing its findings. Although most of its work relates to investigation, it is not an extreme illustration of the kind of agency which the government is using with which to pry into business affairs. There are others spending more; spending, all told, it is estimated, at the rate of $20,000 for every working hour of every business day and spending it every business day in the year.

Immanuel Baptists Mark Anniversary

Immanuel Baptist church celebrated its twentieth anniversary yesterday. Of the charter members, 53 were present. They occupied front pews. The Rev. G. G. Johnson, who has been pastor of the church for twelve years, preached an anniversary sermon on "Glory and Peace."

E. H. DeGroot, Jr., asked the congregation to assist in raising $1,000 for the National Baptist Memorial for the church's share in entertaining members of the North Baptist delegation who are coming here next month. The entire amount was raised.

DISTRICT LIKELY TO GET INNING IN HOUSE TODAY

Creation of Separate Public Utilities Commission in Measure on Calendar.

ZIHLMAN BILL IS DUE

While the day has not been formally designated as such, it is expected that the District will get its deferred inning in the House today.

The most important measure on the calendar is that to create a separate public utilities commission consisting of three members and a people's counsel at $7,500 salary a year. Another measure is that by Chairman Zihlman of the House District committee, prescribing $9,000,000 as the Federal government's contribution for the next two years, and establishing a commission to study the fiscal relationship.

Other pending measures are the bill to admit women to serve on juries, one to acquire a park tract at Thirteenth and Uppur streets, to condemn a Virginia tract for the District garbage plant, to amend the District code in regard to descent and distribution of inheritances, and to grant a $25,000 refund to the Columbia hospital.

5 Civil War Mothers Still Draw Pensions

Five mothers of United States soldiers who died in the service of their country during the civil war, are still drawing pensions from the government, it was reported by the pension bureau yesterday.

The mothers range in age from 96 to 102 years, and are scattered over many States. The oldest is Mrs. Louisa Sheldon, of Blanchester, Ohio, who is blind at the age of 102. Her son, George W. Sheldon, died in a Confederate prison.

Investigations daily and publish many millions of words every year telling what they have found.

Boards and bureaus at the present time are holding hearings galore and summoning witnesses from every section of the country.

Among the more prominent boards engaged daily in investigating business affairs in the name of the United States government are the tariff board, the Federal Trade Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the oil conservation board, the grain futures administration, the packers and stockyards administration and others.

Business men, as a rule, have no choice but to reply to the endless inquiries. Disregard brings a peremptory demand, in many instances, possibly a subpoena. The laws under which these agencies have sharp teeth, for the most part, and a firm that throws the Federal government's inquiry into the waste basket does so at its peril. In not a few cases a stiff fine, or even imprisonment, may be meted out to the man who persists in refusing to answer.

Take, for instance, the Federal Trade Commission. It has undertaken 178 new investigations within the past 20 months. It has summoned before it more than 1,500 witnesses, all of whom were compelled, under penalty, to make an appearance. It has taken 60,460 typewritten pages of testimony at an approximate cost of $15,000 and has held more than 200 hearings in approximately 50 cities.

Witnesses Get $10,000.

PRESIDENTIAL AIMS COLOR G. O. P. FARM MOVES, IS CHARGE

Democratic National Committee Says Republican Notables Seek White House.

ACCUSED OF "GESTURES" ON RELIEF LEGISLATION

Coolidge, Dawes, Lowden, Borah, Longworth, Watson and Hoover Singled Out.

(By the Associated Press.)

Several notables of the Republican party were credited with presidential ambitions by the Democratic national committee yesterday and accused of sticking fingers into the farm relief situation in Congress to promote their own political fortunes.

Describing recent developments in agriculture legislation as "gestures," the committee in a statement said that analysis of the "rival ambitions" for the 1928 nomination is essential to understand what has been transpiring in the name of farm relief.

Starting with "the occupant of the White House," the statement singled out Vice President Dawes, former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois; Senator Borah of Idaho; Speaker Longworth, Senator Watson of Indiana, and Secretary Hoover as now delving into the farmers' problem in its relation to the next presidential campaign.

Charges President Slow.

"The occupant of the White House," it asserted, "has been slow to move in the matter, but political exigencies seem to be forcing the conclusion that something must be done at the present session. Indications of a change have been coming gradually."

Former Gov. Lowden, the statement said, "has been making speeches, 'advising farmers of their unequal economic position,' and 'it is evident that if Lowden is ambitious it is for the Presidency.' Referring to the recent defeat of Senator McKinley in Illinois, the committee observed that the farmers of that State 'no doubt had both Mr. Lowden and the indifference of the national administration of farm relief in mind, much more than the world court, when they went to the polls.'"

Vice President Dawes was pictured as "playing rather quietly his own farm relief game for months. He met Sir Josiah Stamp, an English farmer, and while the latter was in the White House spoke."

Borah Has Ambitions.

Senator Borah was represented as "counting on opposition to the world court, foreign entanglements and things of that sort as the chief stepping stones to his ambitions, but will talk a bit for the farmer meanwhile."

The statement classed Speaker Longworth as "regular," and "ready to perform" if the President wishes the "ruling coterie of the House to enact some sort of farm relief bill."

The Speaker, it continued, "has not yet offered a rural remedy, but he will have one yet."

Senator Watson was described as "saying beautiful things to Hoover farmers in hope of holding the senatorship for a 1928 presidential leverage," while Herbert Hoover "has some ideas about farm relief, and the Presidency. The general opinion is, that if Coolidge can't get it, he will be for Hoover."

7 BALLOONS READY FOR NATIONAL RACE

Will Take the Air Thursday for Litchfield Trophy; Army Has Four Entries.

Little Rock, Ark., April 25 (By A. P.)—Plans for opening the million-dollar airport here with the national elimination balloon race and a series of airplane races, next Thursday and Friday, were completed today. Virtually all of the balloons that will take to the air at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon were on hand.

The pilot balloon, Skylark, which is also to carry the name Arkansas Gazette; the four United States army entries and the balloons, Detroit Aircraft, Detroit, and Goodwin, are being prepared for the race. The winner will receive a $1,000 prize and a trip to the Belgian meet, while the organization he represents will keep the Litchfield trophy for one year.

Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, and Commander John Rodgers, chief of the naval service, are due to arrive by air Wednesday. The chief of the Mexican air service, scores of army dignitaries, high officials, aviation enthusiasts, racing authorities and other notables have announced they will attend.

How to make TEA correctly

Firstly

Be sure you use India Tea, or a blend containing India Tea.

Secondly

Use an earthenware teapot, and put into it one good teaspoonful of India Tea for each cup of tea required.

Thirdly

Be sure you pour the water into the teapot the moment it boils. Only fresh boiling water can bring out the true flavour of the tea. Hot water is no use. Water that has been boiling for some time does not give the best results. This is important if you want a really good cup of tea.

Fourthly

Allow the tea to stand 5 minutes to infuse. Put a little cream or milk into each cup before pouring out the tea. It greatly improves the flavour. Then add sugar to taste.

Any retailer or store can supply you with India Tea or blends containing India Tea. He has no difficulty in getting it, as practically every wholesale distributor of tea in this district supplies India Tea. He will gladly get it for you—but—

Be sure you use INDIA TEA or a blend containing India Tea

$40,000,000 SPENT BY U. S. ON LIQUOR SMUGGLED IN 1925

Commerce Department Reports This Figure as Conservative Estimate.

AMOUNT ABOUT SAME AS DURING YEAR 1924

Is Increase Over the Amounts Given for 1923 and 1922; Price Advance Noted.

(By the Associated Press.)

While coast guard drives and increased activity of enforcement agents helped to stem the tide of smuggled liquor into the United States last year, prices, which shot skyward with the shorter supply, dug just as much money out of Americans' pockets as they did in 1924.

The figure, conservatively estimated at $40,000,000, was included in the fourth annual international trade balance statement announced yesterday by the Commerce Department. It compared with an estimate of $30,000,000 for 1925 and $20,000,000 for 1922, and represented the chief "unreported" item on the import side of the country's merchandise ledger.

Liquor Largest Item.

The estimate covered all smuggled goods, but it was pointed out that this item consists chiefly of alcoholic liquors. It was reached after a study of the records of production, imports, domestic consumption and exports of liquors in neighboring countries, and in the opinion of various authorities, was "a very low estimate."

The year 1925, the department's statement said, "with stricter enforcement of prohibition regulations and the breaking up of several smuggling organizations, resulted finally in a decrease in the number of foreign ships lying off the coast and in a greater confiscation of cargoes and very probably a smaller consumption of smuggled liquor by Americans."

"On the other hand, while the vigilance of the coast guard increased, as it became more difficult to get, so that the total value of liquor smuggled into the United States in 1925 was probably not greatly different from that of 1924, which, according to the most conservative estimates, was at least $40,000,000."

Solar Observatory In Southwest Africa

The public works department of the government of Southwest Africa is now building a new solar observatory for the National Geographic Society's expedition in cooperation with the Smithsonian Institution on the topmost peak of the arid mountain of Burkaros in the center of the Hottentot reservation. This information was received by the Smithsonian Institution here from Dr. Charles G. Abbott, director of the expedition. When the observatory is completed daily observation of solar radiation will be made for the first time in history in the eastern hemisphere, and one more essential step in the attempt to develop long-range weather forecasting will be taken. The observatory when erected will be more than 5,000 feet above sea level.

Few Prisoners Break Parole, Record Shows

Only 6 per cent of the Federal prisoners out on parole from penitentiaries have violated their trust, according to the records of the Department of Justice made public yesterday. The records show that there are 759 men out on parole from the Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island Federal penitentiaries, 327 from the first, 381 from the second and 51 from the third mentioned institution.

The system under which Federal prisoners are granted paroles has been in existence since 1910.

Architects to Discuss Capital's Development

The architectural development of Washington as "the Federal city" will be a feature of the fifty-ninth meeting of the American Institute of Architects, which will meet in the auditorium of the United States Chamber of Commerce on May 5, 6 and 7. D. Everett Wald, of New York, the president, will preside.

Rivory is keen for the office of president for 1926. Milton B. McDary, Jr., of Philadelphia, is supported by local members. Other candidates are Charles A. Payrot, New Orleans, La.; Abram Garfield, Cleveland, Ohio; and Howard Van Doren Shaw, of Chicago. Other officers also will be elected and several amendments to the by-laws will be voted upon. Problems of American architecture and building will be discussed.

SPEAKERS INDORSE PLAN OF GIBBONS INSTITUTE

Maryland Commissioner Tells of Needs in Country Districts.

NEGRO SCHOOL WANTED

John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, was the principal speaker yesterday at a mass meeting in interest of Cardinal Gibbons Institute, colored Catholic school at Ridge, Md., held in the auditorium of the John Wesley African Methodist Episcopal church. Education as productive of larger life and better health, and correlated with economic progress, he said, was necessary in southern Maryland to relieve the pitiless economic pressure upon people of the country districts. The program opened with the singing of "America," led by J. P. Cole, Eugene A. Clark, introduced by William A. Prater, presided.

A history of the Institute was given by A. C. Monahan, secretary of the board of trustees, who told of a test made by former Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, of interest to colored men in support of education, which resulted in its establishment.

Victor H. Daniel, principal of the Institute, commended white members of the trustee board for special interest.

Services of Cardinal Gibbons to the negro race were recounted by Naval H. Thibault, president of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, who made a plea for financial support of the Cardinal Gibbons Institute.

PEN WOMEN'S LEAGUE HAS SOCIAL PROGRAM

Several Writers Read Selections From Own Works at Poet's Matinee.

Activities of the convention of the League of American Pen Women yesterday were confined to the social aspect. In the afternoon they held a poet's matinee at the Shoreham hotel. A number of poets read their own creations, among them being Barbara Young, Joseph Alexander, Maj. Curtis Hadden Page, Mrs. Lucia H. Ollivier, Jeanne Robert Foster, Edna M. Coleman, Alice Fay, May Polwell Holsington, May Lewis, Frances Kean, Ruth Mason Rice, Virginia Stait, Antoinette Quinby Scudder, Mary Atwater Taylor and Harold Vinal. The hostess, Isabel Fiske Conant, also read selections from her own work.

In the evening the delegates attended a reception at the home of Admiral and Mrs. Luther E. Gregory, 3402 Garfield street northwest, and later were entertained at the Washington Arts club, 2017 F street northwest, where an evening of music and poetry was presented by members of the league. Miss Daisy Woodruff Rowley presented several of her orchestral compositions, played by the Mayflower orchestra. Four of her Alabama singers, Verman Kimbrough, Mary Shackelford, Velma King and William Bowman, sang several of Miss Rowley's compositions.

Ruth Mason Rice, Clara Kess Hefebower, Mrs. Bertha Lincoln Henatis and Mrs. Alfred Franklin Smith read selections from their works. Mrs. William Reed and Mrs. William Wolff Smith acted as hostesses.

Rings Stolen From Office.

Mrs. Eugene S. Leggett, 2304 Fourteenth street northwest, told police yesterday that three diamond rings, valued at $75, had been stolen from a desk in her office in the Metropolitan Bank building, Fifteenth and G streets northwest. Mrs. Leggett said that she last saw the jewelry on April 24.

FENNING AND COURT AUDITOR TO TESTIFY

It is that he received 10 per cent in the case of every world war veteran, excepting the Denmark ward, and that a 10 per cent fee is rare for other guardians.

The hearings are developing considerable feeling. The judiciary committee is expected to act today or tomorrow on the impeachment resolution and when it starts functioning there will be the unusual spectacle of a District commissioner being under fire by three committees at one time.

The veterans' committee is in virtually unanimous agreement for legislation that will remove Mr. Fenning's practice. Some question has arisen as to whether the measure sponsored by Chairman Johnson, of South Dakota, will do it. It would provide that the director of the veterans' bureau "may" take over the practice.

Maj. Arnold, answering questions by members, has said that under this language the bureau would take over the local guardianship cases, but, asked whether the bureau's efforts to do so might not be contested, has testified in the affirmative.

WHEELER ATTACKS QUESTIONING OF DRY FORCES AT HEARING

Says He Refused to Take Stand to Circumvent Modificationists' Plan.

LA GUARDIA DECLARES PROHIBITION IMPOSSIBLE

Suggests Antisaloons League Counsel Be Made Enforcement Director.

Tactics of the dry-law modificationists at the Senate prohibition hearing, which closed Saturday, were attacked again yesterday by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Antisaloons League, who explained in a statement that he refrained from taking the witness stand because of the "wets" plan to use up the dry's time by his cross-examination.

"I planned to take the stand," he said, "until it was evident what the wet plans were, and then the committee in charge of our part of the hearings agreed that we would circumvent them."

Without mentioning Senator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, who was the wet prosecutor and cross-examiner, Mr. Wheeler declared that "as it was a large part of the dry's time was consumed by filibuster cross-examination."

Mr. Wheeler's statement and another by Representative La Guardia (Progressive-Socialist), New York, served to break the Sunday lull in the wake of the heated course of the hearing. Mr. La Guardia suggested that Mr. Wheeler be appointed prohibition director with a staff of officers approved by the "extreme dry advocates," and given until January or February to "do anything they desire to enforce this law."

"Could Not Enforce Law."

"I predict," he added, "that they would have to admit that the prohibition law can not be enforced and must be modified."

Asserting that "we have nothing to conceal about the league method or program," Mr. Wheeler said every phase of the organization's political activities were revealed by him in an "admittedly unauthorized cross-examination by Representative Tinkham" before a subcommittee of the House appropriations committee when it was discussing prohibition appropriations.

At that time, he said, he inserted in the record the "indefensible methods of the wets, and they have never dared use that testimony or document. The wet charge that we are now raising $1,000,000 for the coming congressional primaries and elections is false. I have their letters and literature in which they ask for $300,000 for this identical purpose in addition to the $300,000 which they claim they have regularly."

"Our legislative committee has sent out an appeal for $50,000 to offset this. We can make one dollar go about as far as twelve of theirs. We need only inform the people of the record of the congressmen. Dry voters do the rest."

La Guardia Wants Temperance.

"Our opponents have to resort to the old time costly political methods of saloon days and then get licked to a frazzle just as they did in the recent Illinois primaries." Representative La Guardia estimated that "at least 1,000,000 quarts of liquor are consumed each day in the United States," and, in his opinion, "such an enormous traffic in liquor could not be carried on without the knowledge, if not the complicity, of the officials entrusted with the enforcement of the law."

He believed that the percentage of whiskey drinkers in this country now is greater than in any other country, and that "prohibition is responsible" for that condition.

"I am for temperance," he said, "that is why I am for modification."

SON OF RABBI WISE TURNING ON JUDAISM

Drops His Theological Studies and Declares Religion Cannot Survive.

New York, April 25 (By A. P.).—James Freeman Wise, son of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free synagogue, and prominent Zionist, has repudiated formal Jewish theology after studying two years to become a rabbi, he announced today, and will not carry on his father's ministry. Young Wise has been the leader of a Jewish community forum at White Plains, while trying to decide what his future course will be.

Two of his beliefs are that "Judaism as a religion has ceased to play a vital part in Jewish life" and that "Judaism as a religion can not survive."

The young man said he had reached no conclusion as to what religious form would take the place of Judaism, but said that the Jew was "never farther away from Christianity than he is today."

40,000 AT FREDERICK HOLY NAME GATHERING

Mark E. Althoff Is Re-elected President at Convention of Archdiocese.

12,000 IN THE PARADE

Special to The Washington Post. Frederick, April 25.—Forty thousand persons, it was estimated, 12,000 of whom marched in a parade, attended the ceremonies today of the annual convention of the archdiocesan union of the Holy Name society, embracing Maryland and the District of Columbia. Practically all of the 123 branches in the jurisdiction were represented. The parade, which took nearly an hour to pass, was the largest of a religious nature ever witnessed in the city.

Between 400 and 500 delegates attended the convention in St. John's Literary Institute hall, East Second street, presided over by the president of the union, Mark E. Althoff, of Baltimore. Following reports from the various societies of the four divisions, Baltimore, the District of Columbia, western Maryland and southern Maryland, Mr. Althoff was re-elected president. The society has a membership in Maryland and the District of more than 41,000, approximately 25,000 in Baltimore, 15,000 in the District of Columbia, 2,700 in western Maryland and 2,700 in southern Maryland. Baltimore's membership is divided into 35 branches, and the District of Columbia has 42.

The city was decorated in holiday attire and the entire population and thousands of visitors lined the sidewalks the length of the procession, more than two miles. Extra police and seventeen State police directed traffic. Payne delivered an address of welcome at the fair grounds. Following his remarks, the Very Rev. Michael Ripple, of New York, national director of the Holy Name society, preached a sermon. A letter was read from Archbishop Curley, of Baltimore, and the ceremony closed with singing "Star-Spangled Banner" and "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," and the benediction of the blessed sacrament. Father Schwalenberg, pastor of St. John's church, this city, being the celebrant.

Former U. S. Convict Found Slain in Cuba

Havana, Cuba, April 25 (By A. P.).—The body of a man found slain near Marianao beach, near here last month has been identified by the Cuban secret police as that of Harold Barton, who, the police allege, served a term in the Salt Lake City, Utah, jail. It was previously reported that Richard Cromleigh, of Tampa, Fla., was the name of the murdered man.

Baby Has 4 Changes Of Guardians in Hour

Pocatello, Idaho, April 25 (By A. P.).—A 6-month-old baby has found a home after having four guardians in an hour. Hospital authorities refused the mother's request to care for the child for six weeks, but a telephone operator took the baby. She decided the task was too difficult and two other hospital attendants volunteered. Finally a prominent business man's wife took the baby.

ATTRactions AT THE LOCAL PLAYHOUSES

PALACE

The real thrills of a Yale-Harvard football game, a boat race, an intense love story and college boys with their pranks are only a few of the outstanding features of "Brown of Harvard," the film attraction at the Palace this week.

Screened by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from Rita Johnson Young's book and stage play, it is really one of the greatest college classics on the screen: it is true to the story and brought to date with the 1925 Yale-Harvard football game.

Even though one is not interested in college life, this film has good humor, dramatic situations and romantic touches to please the most fastidious in any audience. It is a college picture which will long be remembered, and it is little wonder that the action of the play runs smoothly throughout because the well balanced cast includes young men who have been through college and realistically represent many things done during their college days.

William Haines, in the character of Tom Brown, a student in the freshman year at Harvard, falls in love with Mary (played by Mary Brian), the daughter of Prof. Abbott, has a fist fight with his rival, Bob McAndrews (Francis X. Bushman, Jr.), and falls into disgrace by losing the freshman Yale-Harvard boat race.

Others in the cast were Jack Pickford, an outstanding character as Jed Doolittle, and Mary Allen, as Nancy, the mother of Tom. In addition to "Brown of Harvard" is a pleasing Glenn Tryon comedy, "The Hugbug," Pathe Newsreel and Topics of the Day. Under the leadership of Prof. Tom Cannon the Palace Symphony orchestra carries the production right into the spirit of the picture with its specially arranged musical score.

COLUMBIA

The Columbia management has seen fit to hold over Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, "For Heaven's Sake," which entered its second week yesterday.

The picture was reviewed last week. The first part drags a bit, the comedy relief being supplied at rather long intervals. The second part, however, makes up for what ever the first part lacks.

Briefly, "For Heaven's Sake" is the story of a rich young clubman who, unknowingly, aids the cause of a settlement worker, one Brother Paul. Believing the young man to be a philanthropist, Brother Paul urges him to help in the task of saving souls. This sort of work does not, at first, appeal to the sophisticated Harold, but upon meeting Brother Paul's charming daughter, his obdurate soul rebels and he becomes a pious singer in the mission. Just how it all ends, the little romance woven through it, the wild bus ride, and everything turning out well, forms the denouement. Jobyna Ralston plays opposite Lloyd.

A comedy, "Buried Treasure," in which "Our Gang" cut up innumerable capers, is also on the bill. Screen snapshots and the usual house numbers round out a well balanced bill.

MUTUAL

"Evelyn Cunningham and Her Gang," opened yesterday at the Mutual before an appreciative audience. The play in every particular is well staged.

Miss Cunningham, the queen of burlesque, a handsome and clever woman, of pleasing personality was well supported by her songs.

Dollie Barringer, a singing and dancing soubrette, a clever little performer, who is assisted by a bevy of pretty chorus girls, coupled with many scenic effects, adds considerable color to the performance.

George Leon, the leading comedian, keeps the audience in constant laughter with his numerous catchy jokes, especially when he attempts to join the fire department in the closing number of the performance. His friend, Harry Lee, as the Hebrew comedian, is well received.

Much life is added to the performance by the chorus girls, who are well trained in each dance and musical number.

KEITH'S

In vaudeville they seldom save the best for the last. Usually, the highlights are focused about midway. This week at Keith's, the big individual number is offered by Rae Samuels—all a headline act should be; but away down toward the letter "X" on the side-lines, there are four young ladies giving their attention to as many pianos. "Jerry and Her Baby Grands," in "Bits of Dream Music," they call this conception, and while a surprised audience is ready for hats, cloaks and carriages, once the music is turned on there is no leaving; so that encore follows encore, and most music lovers are sorry this sort of thing must stop when it does.

"Jerry" herself, is Geraldine Valiere, a whistling soloist. Vaudeville needs more like her. Rae Samuels is back with a new folio of songs—and puts them over in the same old way. That about tells the story. She heads what is called a unit show wherein eight chorus girls are loaned from one act to another, as occasion requires.

In all, this second unit show of the season is a well balanced card. Louise and Mitchell, acrobats, lead off, followed by Billy Abbott, followed again by the Duponts, in "A Study in Nonsense." Dupont, incidentally, is one of the finest comics on the boards.

Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar, dancers extraordinary, present their fifth annual revue wherein the eight chorines again come to the front. They are the Misses Jean Carroll, Irene Griffith, Margie Hall, Edna Norris, Helen Miller, Priscilla Thompson, Helen Bradley and Gladys Miller. In this number they are permitted to do individual dancing.

Paul Kirkland, Bert Laehr and Mercedes, and the usual house features complete a bill exceedingly interesting save in one or two spots.

EARLE

The bill at the Earle theater this week is especially good. Herman Timberg's "Unique Musical Treat" with Alex Hyde and his famous ensemble, is indeed a musical event. It is a show in which a young musician is hesitating between jazz and classical fields of endeavor. Two orchestras on the stage play the different styles until finally he decides to combine the two.

The Eddie Miller Duo with Victor Vallenti in "The Minute Men of Melody" put over a clever singing act. Plenty of laughs were provided by Al Fields and Johnny Johnston and "Terry and Jerry" Roy Rice and Mary Werner presented "On the Scaffold," a screamingly funny dialogue, in blackface.

Sager Midgely & Co., were well received in a farcical musical comedy which introduced a clever company of dancers and singers. Kennedy and Kramer opened the show with a song and dance that went over well. Maude Kramer is billed as the champion hard shoe tap dancer.

This week's photoplay is a comedy that is unusual in that it really amuses and yet does not depend on slapstick for its punch. It tells of a young man who wants to be a reporter and who has a hard time getting across with the city editor until he manages to get a story from a deaf and dumb blackmailer.

He is then sent to cover a feud in the Kentucky mountains and manages to defeat the villain and to win the school teacher, Floyd Wheeler's Earle theater orchestra and organ solos by Alexander Arons complete the bill.

RIALTO

Held over for a third week, John Barrymore in the screen classic "The Sea Beast" still continues to please the large crowds at the Rialto that flock to see one of the most remarkable pictures since "The Birth of a Nation."

Aside from the superb acting of Mr. Barrymore, Dolores Costello and a remarkable supporting cast, the settings of the picture are beyond comparison. Most of the scenes are taken at sea in pursuit of a mammoth white whale that has long been the scourge of whaling vessels.

Disappointed in love, as he thinks, Barrymore becomes a monomaniac in his quest for the denizen of the deep. His whole character changes as well as his physical appearance. How it all turns out, well, it is best to see it, for to relate it here would spoil a splendid afternoon or evening.

There are thrills enough in the picture to satisfy the most ardent seeker of blood-curdling situations. Just enough comedy is interspersed to keep it from becoming too much of a tragedy, and the scenes are laid in New Bedford, Mass., then the center of the whaling industry, and in Java.

This is the first starring vehicle of Dolores Costello and she has taken advantage of her opportunity with a vengeance. She makes a splendid heroine.

As the feature is longer than usual, no other pictures are shown except the newsreel. The Rialto orchestra, under the direction of Mischa Guterson, as usual is good.

STRAND

Leading the bill in a charming program at the Strand this week are Will Higgie and his six Charleston girls in a dance revue entitled "Grace, Youth and Beauty." The girls, besides giving an excellent Charleston, do some classical dancing, for which they receive a good hand.

Browning & Bracken produce a blackface comedy skit entitled "Two Pals From the South." A bit of singing and some instrumental music, mixed with a wise crack here and there, give the audience a chance to hold their sides when they laugh. A bit of originality and blissful dumbness are the order of the day. James C. Morton, assisted by his family, Mamie, Edna and Alfred Morton, introduce a comedy scene entitled "The Battles of 1926." Plenty of action and laughs, including an encore, are produced by this quartet. Betty Taylor and Louise Lake present a duet called "Two Songbirds." Katherine Sinclair and company have an act overlaid with thrills and shivers entitled, "An Athletic Potpourri."

The photoplay feature for this week is "Peacock Feathers," a story introducing the problems of a young couple in their first year of married life and starring Jacqueline Logan and Cullen Landis. The adventures of a young man who married on an unseen fortune.

The program was closed with orchestra selections, "Honey Bunch," by Friend, and exit march, "It's You," by Charles.

This is the last and closing week at the Strand.

METROPOLITAN

The long heralded arrival of Norma Talmadge in the Belasco stage success, "Kiki," arrived at the Metropolitan yesterday afternoon.

The cast includes Ronald Coleman, George K. Arthur, Gertrude Astor and Marc McDermott.

Frankly, "Kiki" is not a part adapted to the versatility of Norma. Whatever else that charm-

ANNOUNCING

A New Type Light-Weight Suit

That Is Entirely Different

For Wear From Early April to Late October

They are light-weight suits that are new and different, and here's why they are new and different:

First—They are three-piece suits, instead of the usual two-piece light-weight suits.

Second—They are of fine light-weight flannels and the new weaves of two, three and four-ply worsteds, and Dublin twists that are new in Summer suits.

Third—They are in patterns, colorings and models that are different from the usual Summer suits.

Fourth—They are suits that pay a tribute to the good taste of men who are always well groomed—and this has not always been true of light-weight suits.

Suits made for men who realize that style and quality must be tailored into clothes permanently and not pounded into them every few days with a pressing iron.

ACTORS' VOICES HEARD AS MOVIES ARE SHOWN

Laboratories of Electrical Companies Succeed in Synchronization.

FULL ILLUSION OBTAINED

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, April 25 (By A. P.).—Movie audiences may soon realize a desire to hear the heroine scream "help, help" as she is thrown from the cliff by the villain.

A system for the synchronization of motion pictures with reproduced sound has been perfected and found feasible after years of research by the Western Electric Co. and Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and in the laboratories of the Bell Telephone Co. and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said an announcement from the interested companies tonight.

The invention, which it is claimed has made possible the reproduction of sound with a degree of naturalness never before attained, will not be confined to the moving picture industry alone but will be available in educational, musical, commercial and religious fields. It is based upon a perfected system of electrical recording from a distance, using a high quality microphone to give the actors complete freedom of movement and grouping, an electrical reproducing record attached to a loud speaker, and a reproducing control so regulated as to give the illusion that the source of the voice is the actor whose pictures appear on the screen.

The mechanism is reported to be developed so that the film and sound instruments are kept in absolute synchronism during the making of the film and in reproduction. In presentation the reproducing and projection machines are operated from the same motor to give equal control to both instruments. The most difficult part of the development, the announcement said, was the recording of music or speech in such a degree of naturalness as to bear out the illusion of words being spoken by the actor.

Ellen Key, Swedish Writer, Dies at 76

Stockholm, Sweden, April 25 (By A. P.).—Ellen Key, who has had a powerful influence on Swedish literature, died today at the age of 76 years.

Ellen Key was the daughter of Emil Key and Countess Sophia Posse, and was unmarried. She lived in her own house, built on a small piece of land granted by the state. In her own and other languages she has written about 30 works.

GRAPPLING WITH ROBBER, MAN PLUNGES TO DEATH

Falls With Burglar From Third-Story Fire Escape and Lands Underneath.

LIMPING THIEF IS SOUGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, April 25.—Checking on all hospitals and physicians, police today organized a city-wide search for a limping burglar with whom Jack Kaye, 40, of West 177th street, plunged to death from the fire escape of his home.

The dead man's wife, Rose Kaye, told detectives she and her husband were awakened by a flashlight playing over their bed just before dawn. She screamed, and a dark shape fled through a window of the apartment, which is on the third floor. Kaye followed, grappling with the intruder on a fire-escape landing. Both men lurched over the rail into a rear court.

The burglar was later seen limping through an alley by a janitor awakened by the noise. Kaye was taken to Harlem hospital, where he died later of a fractured skull. Beside Kaye's body, which had apparently landed underneath, detectives found the prowler's hat, overcoat and flashlight.

Nothing was taken from the Kaye apartment. Kay was a fur salesman.

MUSSOLINI OPPOSED BY FASCIST REBELS

by what are now German minorities.

German Is Prohibited.

When Trent before the war was part of Austria, the Austrian empire permitted the Italians who dominated the district to have their own schools with the Italian language, but the Mussolini government vetoed a similar privilege for the Germans, whose main centers are to the north, nearer the new Austrian frontier, and particularly at Bolzano, Merano, Bressanone and Brunico.

This prohibition against teaching German to the younger generation, is the chief outcry against Italian rule, for the Germans assert that the attempt to denationalize and deracialize them is a flagrant violation of the fundamentals of human equality.

The great goal of the German leaders in the Italian Tyrol is eventually to force the issue before the League of Nations, believing that as the minority populations are cared for by the league, they will find at Geneva their best chance of securing redress.

A second complaint against Italian rule is that the Roman government has dismissed the leading German employees in state institutions, like the railroads and post offices, substituting out and out Italians.

Names Are Romanized.

A third is that Mussolini has insisted on the Romanization of the names of German minority people, who were Italian in the days of Austrian dominion, but whose names gradually became Germanized.

A fourth change, which weighs heavily, is that Germans have not been given local autonomy in government sufficient to make them happy and useful members of the Italian body politic.

But the main discontent arises over the suppression of the German elementary schools, and, aided by Innsbruck, Austria, and Munich, Bavaria, and by eager groups of agitators, the local leaders in the new Italian Tyrol are carrying on a determined campaign to obtain revocation of the decree banning the German tongue.

Bringham, Mr. J. D. Secrest and Mr. H. H. Frederick.

Miss Wilcox announces an evening of modern music by the novelist and pianist, Stanley Olmsted, at the Washington club, Seventeenth and K streets northwest, Wednesday evening at 8:45 o'clock.

Assisted by Amelia M. Olmsted, at the second piano, Mr. Olmsted will play the second Rachmaninoff concerto, and the Arensky suite, opus 15.

Also a group of single piano pieces by MacDowell, Ravel, Debussy and Eastwood Lane (compositions in the American "jazz" idiom).

Minnesota State Party.

Members of the Minnesota State society are looking forward to the anniversary party and dance to be given Friday evening in the Chinese room of the Mayflower hotel. Practically all arrangements have been made by officers of the society to celebrate at this meeting the sixty-eighth anniversary of the entry of the State of Minnesota into the Union, which date is May 11.

Members of Congress and government officials have signified their intention of being present, and it is expected that there will be very large attendance of members and their friends.

There will be dancing from 9 to 12.

Mr. Elwood J. Way is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Miss Agnes Peterson, chairman of the hostess committee, has the following assistants: Mrs. George Aubler, Mrs. W. H. Hunter, Mrs. Elwood J. Way and Miss Mae Murphy. The members of the reception committee are Mr. Paul J. Kvale, Mr. Milton Tatham, Mr. John Essler and Mr. C. George Lee, with Herman Fakler as chairman. Mr. E. A. Hohl has charge of tickets and Mr. C. H. Schopmeyer of music.

Mrs. Robert C. Kelton and Mrs. Herbert Sparrow will entertain the Causerie Francaise this evening at the studio of Mr. and Mrs. Bush Brown.

Painters and Paperhangers are using the classified ad pages of The Post to highly profitable, business-getting results. There's room for more! Phone Main 4295 for details.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

DEAR MISS M'DONALD: I am a girl brought up in a lovely home, with everything I wished. How does this life of mine sound to you? Married over a year and received only about $8 in all from my husband while I have spent almost $70 on him. We are living with his mother and sister and brother. At first I worked and that is where the money I made went. He needed clothes. Well, he simply refused to buy me clothes, after I stopped working. Yet his mother and family protested that I should stay at home and keep house. My mother couldn't stand my not having any clothes and bought me several expensive things so I could come in to see her. This made him so furious he refused me carfare. Imagine. So my mother sent me money enough to come in and look me around to show me a good time. I never had a cent all summer and what I got my mother furnished me with. He would never give me a cent. He fears my mother parting us. Well, all I get is quarrelled at, making meals, keeping 12 rooms clean. My friends wondered why I didn't write. I told them I could not as there was no money for stamps, so now, when they write they send stamps so I can answer them. And I wish to say I have loads of friends and am considered fine looking. Friends always said who ever got me would be lucky, as I was a man hater and never went out only once in a while and then with my sister, age 18, or my mother. Well, I love my husband (or, rather, worship him), in spite of everything, and did from the minute I met him. He is always saying he loves me and me only and never could live without me, but still he would never take me anywhere. Now here every one works—his gray haired mother goes to work at 6 o'clock, and all the rest, and I am supposed to go, and what money I make is to go to the home, help keep the table going, buy my own clothes, pay my own way. Even my doctor bills. So I'd never get any money, and must work out and in the house too.

What is your advice in that? And if I intend living with him or on speaking terms with the (his) family I must do that. When I did work, he loafed half the time and stole my money and he'd do the same thing. He would let me leave him sooner than live away from his parents. I am two years older than he and we are out of our teens. Now do not say to leave him—For I tried it once. Saying I was going to visit mother for a week or couldn't stay away the whole week for when he came in one night on an errand. I went home with him and was glad to. The minute I see him, everything seems all right, never let any one run over me, but he did and I still worship him. Just can't help it and would do the same all over again if I'd know what I know now. Our baby died two days after birth and his family said he might be glad as it costs too much money and I couldn't go out and work if it had lived, but now I could. He has never said a word of the baby to me one way or the other. He will have his way in everything regardless of consequences. Now Miss McDonald, what do you make out of this. I do believe my husband would show a little bit of affection for me, but when he did everybody snickered and made remarks and after a few times he stopped it. When he talks he never looks at me. He tells it to his sister or mother. I've lain awake all night and cried like a little fool.

So, tell me what you think of a woman married a year and working a cent in her pocketbook and working hard all day for eight people, clean twelve rooms, cook, iron and slave and am never offered a nickel from any one and they all make over $20 for five days work. Please answer this early. There are worse things, but can not put them here as they would see and know. My mother is just frantic.

AN UNPAID WIFE.

My dear girl, you are on the down grade. You are exerting no effort, no will. You are instead, the creature of another being's will. Continue so, and soon you will be a nonentity. In the first place there is no reason why you should be living with all these strangers whose ways are so foreign to your ways. You are doing so only because you know your husband is weak and indifferent to you, and that being so he would not support you. You are therefore staying where you are because it is the only way that your husband can dodge his responsibilities as a man. Now it is up to you. If you stay, you deserve no better treatment than you now receive. If you are an unpaid servant it is because your weakness has leveled you to that plane. You have not the spirit or the pride of a real servant working for money in honest true-hearted fashion. You are weak. And the weak are the ones who always pay. Your feeling for your husband is an abnormal one—due to some very definite cause. It is not love. And of course what he feels for you is far from love. You are both inferior types and came together because of that fact. You can continue on down the grade to the end and you can square your shoulders now and begin to develop the thing that distinguishes man from the brother animals—will. You have no will right now. Are you going to develop one—or are you going to keep on going down?

Conduct and Common Sense

SHAKING HANDS.

THIS custom, like many others, may be generally observed without being considered obligatory on every occasion. As a rule, people shake hands when introduced to each other or when as friends and acquaintances they meet and part. But suppose the people introduced are seated on opposite sides of a table or are separated in some way that makes handshaking difficult; it is not worth while to create confusion for the purpose of going through this form. Therefore, as the names are spoken, a bow and a word or two are considered sufficient. Again, when a large company are greeting each other or leaving each were to shake the hand of every other individual it would be more of a task than a pleasure. A mixture of bows and smiles and handshakes distributed among the far and near according to their far and nearness is to be recommended. It is to be noted that with all rules a working knowledge of when and how not to apply them is as important as they are themselves. This comes with the case of habit, or by the application of natural common sense. We know that it is polite to shake hands with an acquaintance, but if we had to reach across two comparative strangers at the theater to do so we should also know enough to refrain. The acquaintance does not need the actual touch of a hand to convince him of friendship. To be unnecessarily polite to him we should have been rude to two other people.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOR THE YOUNGER GENERATION.

I wonder just what we'd have done Had we been thrust upon life's stage In such a most bewildering age And asked to be, from sun to sun, Obedient children, every one.

When we were young we never knew The motor's mastery of space, The horse and buggy's slower pace Restricted much we longed to do. Some thrills we had, but they were few.

Our lives were very simple then, We had not reached the countless things Which modern progress always brings. The old-time pace is lost to men, And will not ever come again.

Our children now are being tried In various ways to us unknown. They travel many a danger zone, Their perils have been multiplied Where once we walked they swiftly ride.

A stronger current now they stem Than that which we were asked to brave, There is a problem far more grave. Life is more difficult for them Than 'twas for us who now condemn.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, of matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

KEEPING THE MOUTH CLEAN.

IN an experience with several large department stores in Boston, Dr. Emmons found that very few people have clean mouths. The proportion was one in five. His figures referred to clerks in department stores, but the probability is that the same figures apply, in a general way, to the general run of people. In fact, my guess is that the girls in department stores average considerably better than the average run of people in this particular.

About half the people referred to by Dr. Emmons had what he called fair mouths. The people in this group needed to have their teeth cleaned and polished, and to have some small fillings and some extractions. Nearly one-third had what was called neglected mouths. Most of the people who had recurring attacks of toothache were in the third group.

Toothache is preventable. Any person who is subjected to toothache need only have his teeth put in order to prevent recurrence of the disorder. No other treatment is anything more than a stop gap.

Of course, gum boils are even more representative of neglect. The people who are subject to gum boils are convicted, without further evidence, of having neglected mouths. The lawyers call this prima facie evidence, if this court be not in error. The person who has a mild pyorrhea with periodic attacks of pain and tenderness, is likewise in the group of those with preventable troubles.

In the stores supervised by Dr. Emmons the employees pay for the dental service they receive, but the rates are on a very reasonable basis. This store furnishes the space and the equipment, and the work is done on the employer's time. The cost for material and for the time of the dentist and dental hygienist is paid by the employee.

The tendency of persons to neglect their teeth is met by a system of well organized appointments with penalties for appointments that are not kept. Emergencies, such as treatment of toothaches, abscesses, gum boils, and extractions, are done in the office. In most of the stores periodic treatments are given for pyorrhea in the earlier stages. Roots are treated, as are gums, and some simple fillings are put in. In most of the department stores the more difficult fillings and more serious dental work is not done. Such cases are referred to family dentists, neighborhood dentists and dentists known to do good work. Some effort is made to protect employees against exceptionally poor work by outside dentists and against gross overcharges.

Some of Dr. Emmons' conclusions are as follows:

Preventive medicine offers no more generally needed or more effective health measure than dental service.

The industrial dental clinic fits into the scheme for community dental service.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

G. F. E. writes: I had a blood pressure test last week which showed 185. Two years ago it was 160. Please give a diet. I am 71 years of age, married, a farmer, and still on the farm. I did post holes, pitch bundles some, chop wood and kindling and other work about the place. I am 5 feet 3 inches and weigh about 120 pounds. Of a nervous temperament, I would say, I am emotional and more so as I grow older. My father was also.

Please tell how best to counteract high blood pressure. I do not use salt or pepper, beans, meat (except chicken), drink coffee once a day, sugar and cream. You say meat is not the largest factor in blood pressure. Please tell what would promote my health best longevously.

REPLY.

If you have no kidney or heart trouble and no dimness of vision of the kind that goes with high blood pressure, you have reason to feel pretty happy about yourself. I judge your diet to be about right. Chicken is meat, but a little meat will do you no harm, be it chicken or beef. You can do much to promote emotional restraint.

Send 10 cents and stamped, addressed envelope for booklet on blood pressure.

Beauty and You

DO YOU GIVE YOUR TEETH A CHANCE?

The other day, I was talking with an authority on the care of the teeth, and he told me that only 18,000,000 people in the United States use tooth paste at all. Of these, but one in 30 cleans his or her teeth at night.

Yet night is the important time from the dental standpoint, for it's then, while we sleep, that tartar gathers and hardens. And we all know what ill tartar causes—bleeding gums, pyorrhea, falling teeth, pus pockets, and dear knows what disorders that seem to us to have nothing to do with teeth at all. Brush your teeth at night, then, but don't omit the morning cleansing to start the day with a mouth that feels fresh and teeth that sparkle.

But beware of a too gritty toothpaste that shines the teeth at the expense of the enamel. If you feel that you need such a drastic cleanser, use it once a week, substituting a less gritty paste on the other six days of the week. Brush from the gums down and from the gums up. This massages them.

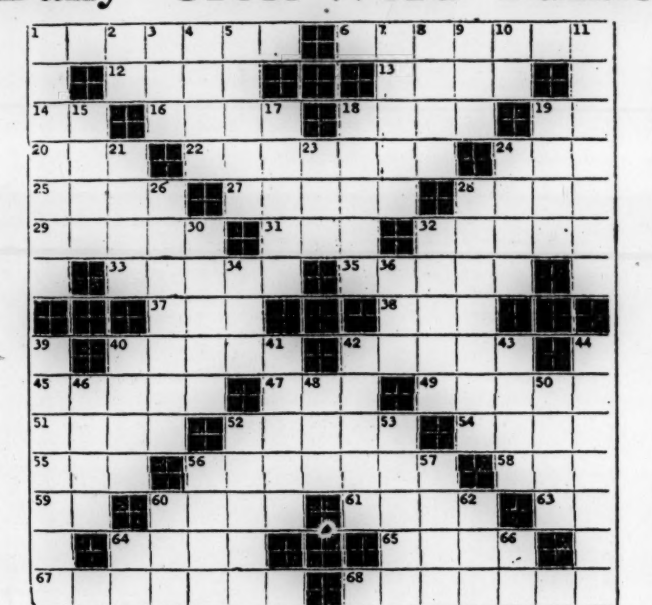

The daily use of a mouth wash is undoubtedly good, not only for its direct effect on the teeth themselves, but for its psychological effect on the one who uses it. We undoubtedly feel better after it, because we feel cleaner.

MODISH MITZI

Should Mitzi Have More or Less Hair?

Shall she grow it? There seem to be a great many arguments for it. One could do it a different way every day. One could wear fancy combs. And there would be hair pins again. It's the lack of variety that kills on Mitzi. Something must be done, too, right away.

When one has to do something to hair nowadays one consults the "bobber." Mitzi is about to do the preliminaries to having her hair cut long but that was before she saw this fascinating bob with the swirling frontispiece. It might be becoming. It's worth consideration anyway.

Or if you let the hair grow, you could brush it back from the forehead and catch it at the nape of the neck with a barrette. Then it is brushed to resemble a sort of loose swirl. Ears show a bit. It's terrible to be so wobbly-minded. Shall she or shall she?

On the other hand, there is this very short cut. There is something about showing the ear, particularly, when it is a nice, small one that is very, er, appealing. Mitzi thinks she'll have a very short cut, it will be handy for summer. It's smart. And well, there are so many good arguments for it. Just as many or more than for long hair.

LOWER BANK RATE EXPECTED TO SPUR BUSINESS ACTIVITY

Hope for Revival Is Seen as Reason for Reaction in Stock Market.

NEW READJUSTMENT
PERIOD IS AT HAND

New Steel Business Drops Off Slightly After Record
in March.

New York, April 25. (By the Associated Press).—Business conditions were brought into clearer focus last week simultaneously with conditions which suggested that another period of readjustment was at hand.

The return of easier credit conditions which followed the March slump in the stock market enabled the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to lower its rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent, a change which it was felt would do much to stimulate slackening trade. The establishment of the 4 per cent rate by the bank last January was generally interpreted as a warning against unbridled speculation in securities and if such a gesture was intended it was undeniably effective. With the deflation of the stock market accomplished, however, the reserve bank authorities apparently saw a new opportunity in aiding trade by a lower discount rate, at the same time realigning its rate with the downward trend of the open money market.

Steel Bookings.

After a record March output of steel, new business in this country began to fall off in volume, according to official reports of operations of the United States and Bethlehem Steel corporations. Unless recessions become more pronounced, a second quarter's activities will be maintained at a higher pace than year ago.

Bookings of the U. S. Steel Corporation in April have averaged about 28,500 tons of steel a day, compared with 35,361 tons in April last year. Shipments have been making at the rate of 48,141 tons a day against 51,142 tons last month and 46,950 tons for the same period last year. The Bethlehem corporation's earnings and operations showed marked improvement in the first quarter but the business recently has fallen to about 77 per cent of capacity, while shipments have been running at the rate of 91 per cent.

Weather Hurts Business.

Much of the blame for the irregularities of business has been placed upon the backwardness of the season, which has retarded activities in the agricultural regions and indirectly restrained buying of automobiles, textiles and many staple products. The trend of commodity prices has continued downward since early in the year at the preponderance of declines last week was less marked than usual.

The sudden strengthening of stock prices in response to the lower bank rate revived hopes in some quarters that the feeling of pessimism engendered by the previous reaction would be dispelled. If the derived, the expected stimulus from easier credit, these hopes probably will be realized. The action of the stock market, on the other hand, is not likely to play such an important part in shaping general business sentiment.

Bonds of Navigation Corporation Issued

F. J. Lisman & Co. are offering today a new issue of $3,000,000 Hudson River Navigation Corporation 6½ per cent convertible closed first mortgage 25-year sinking fund gold bonds at a price of $100, less interest from date of payment to May 1, 1926, to yield over 6.70 per cent to maturity. The bonds have par value, in effect of $105, because ultimately the sinking fund must redeem the bonds at that price.

Gross earnings of the Hudson River Navigation Corporation properties averaged $1,730,662 for the last eight years, with an average net of $440,272, equal to 1.73 times interest and sinking fund charges. Plans have been made to expand the operations of the company and improve its service, which has always been profitable. About

Way Clear; Be Cautious, Bank Tells Wall Street

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, April 25.—When the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in January raised its discount rate to 4 per cent it was a signal that the speculation in Wall street had gone past the limit of safety and it was time to call a halt. Brokers' loans then aggregated $3,141,125,000. On Thursday, the day the reduction was announced, they had shrunk to $2,451,330,000, a decline of $689,786,000. And so the bank has signaled to Wall street:

"The way is clear, but proceed with caution."

But these financial columns have always maintained that the great downward swing was not an index of a general business depression, for when the stock market performs its function as a business barometer its indices must be corroborative of the evidences of credit contraction or expansion as expressed through the money market.

The downward swing received its impulses from within Wall street itself. It has committed excesses and a bad headache was the penalty to be expected. And no less an authority than Otto H. Kahn approves this point of view. In his Atlanta speech he said:

"The only circumstances under which, in a country with the resources, the resiliency and the basic descent into the cyclone cellar becomes warranted are—leaving aside grave foreign complications—either manifestations of stark and persistent overproduction or overtrading, or the advent of a major credit disturbance, or acute monetary stringency."

"None of these circumstances exists today, or is even remotely likely to occur. Apart, perhaps, from a very few specific lines, there has been no overproduction on the part of manufacturers, nor has there been overstocking on the part of merchants or dealers. On the contrary, the industry and the market as a whole, in the conduct of their own affairs, have kept their heads admirably during the price boosting antics on the stock exchange."

"With few exceptions, the only overtrading that was done occurred on the stock exchange, apart, perhaps, from a certain amount of overtrading on the part of the public in the shape of excessive installment buying or unduly liberal spending in other ways. The basic credit situation is excellent, and the banking structure in admirable shape. Money is plentiful for all legitimate purposes and there is no reason to anticipate a change in that respect."

As to the influence of the reserve rate decrease, one of Wall street's greatest bankers said to the writer today:

"It will help the market—and it was intended to help it."

And a well known commentator gave the writer these observations:

"Some analysts take a rather cynical view of the current recovery in the stock market and have likened the lower discount rate to an attempt at pushing the stock market up by sheer strong arm force. As past experience has shown, however, the reserve board has been for the last five years not only conservative but unusually accurate in keeping the reserve rates at a figure which conforms to the actual condition in the money market. Each advance in the rate has resulted in some liquidation, bringing about an easier money position. Each recession in the bank rate has succeeded in restoring confidence and in some measure in stimulating the price of securities. The resultant effect invariably has been to check up business sentiment and prevent merchants and producers from crawling into their shells and refusing to continue their activities on a normal scale."

"Not in the last six years has a change in the discount rate been so short an interval after a previous change. The rate was raised to 4 per cent in January and now, only three months later, it has been lowered. Hereafter there has been a lapse of at least seven months between the raising and lowering of the rate. It may be taken for granted that the reduction last week would not have been authorized at New York unless the banking authorities were satisfied that it was in conformity with actual money conditions. For this reason the lower rate seems to foreshadow an indefinite period of lower money rates. But we must not hoodwink ourselves into the belief that in order to keep money low the board is going to countenance unbridled inflation. Nothing of that kind is necessary either to prevent a slump in business or to keep the stock market cheerful and on an even keel."

"An almost analogous position was seen after the tremendous speculative rise from 1903 to the early part of 1906. During that rise the market covered twice the territory on the advance that had been covered prior to the move. A drastic decline early in 1906 carried the averages back more than fifteen points. BOND MARKET STRENGTH GREATEST OF THIS YEAR

MUCH NEW FINANCING

New York, April 25. (By the Associated Press).—Under the invigorating influence of easier credit conditions, the bond market last week developed the greatest strength and activity of the year. Of paramount importance in determining the trend of prices was the reduction in the federal reserve rediscount rate, a change which has never failed to have a tonic effect on trading.

The response of the bond market to the altered situation was perhaps more pronounced than usual because of the sweeping downward revisions of money rates and the unexpected cut in the rediscount charge, which gave Wall street no time to discount its possibilities. Less than a month ago the reservoir of money at this center had become so depleted that a sudden emergency in Cuba, demanding the shipment of gold to stem a bank panic, caused an alarming tightening of rates. Within the past week, however, it became apparent that the drastic curtailment of brokerage borrowings and the exorbitant rate requirements of trade was resulting in the accumulation of a vast volume of surplus funds. All classes of accommodation were forced down, with call and time loans available at the lowest rates since last summer.

Even before reports of a lower bank rate were seriously considered, the pressure of these funds seeking an investment outlet exerted a telling effect on the course of bonds. Measures of the improvement in the market included the rise in the general average of prices to the highest point in several years, the establishment of new 1926 top prices by most of the Liberty and Treasury bonds, as well as scores of representative railroad and corporation issues, the apparent restoration of confidence in foreign government obligations and the year's record of more than $21,000,000 for a single day's transactions, a figure equalled only once before on the New York Stock Exchange.

New life was injected into the foreign division by the Senate's ratification of the Italian debt pact and the submission of another offer for the funding of the French war debt to the United States. The prospects that an agreement on the latter will be laid before President Coolidge by Congress for approval lifted the French issues around the highest levels of the year, although only a few weeks ago they were selling at new lows. Favorable developments in other fields included steps to carry forward railroad mergers in the East and Southwest, government sanction of one of the largest of the recent oil mergers and the extension of foreign activities by a group of American petroleum producers.

Coincident with the rise in listed bonds, new financing expanded to approximately $140,000,000, as compared with $78,000,000 in the preceding week. Two South American loans—$40,000,000 for Uruguay and $20,000,000 for Argentina—headed the list of offerings.

Business has entered a period of readjustment similar in many respects to the downward movement in the spring months of 1924 and 1925, says the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, but present conditions warrant belief that the recession will be moderate and will not extend over a long period.

New Issue

$3,000,000

Hudson River Navigation Corporation

6½% Convertible (Closed) First Mortgage Twenty-Five Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Convertible, at the option of the holder, anytime up to and including May 1, 1931, on the basis of one $1,000 bond for 10 shares of common stock represented by voting trust certificates and thereafter up to and including May 1, 1936, into common stock on the same basis. Bonds called for redemption before expiration of the conversion privilege may be converted up to ten days before the date of such redemption.

Redeemable by a cumulative sinking fund of 2% per annum of the authorized amount of the issue, beginning September 1, 1927, which will redeem the entire issue before maturity, provided by purchase in the open market at or under 105%; if not so obtainable then by semi-annual drawings by lot at 105%.

Drawn bonds become payable on the next following interest date at 105% and accrued interest. Callable, as a whole or in part, at 105% and accrued interest on any interest date upon thirty days' notice. Due May 1, 1931. Coupons May 1, November 1. Denominations $1,000, $500. Registrable as to principal only.

Payable: Principal and interest in U. S. Gold Dollars at the present standard of weight and fineness at the principal office of The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, Transfer, New York. The Company agrees to pay interest free of the normal Federal Income Tax, not exceeding 2%. The Company also agrees to reimburse holders of bonds, if requested within 60 days after payment, for the Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Maryland and Kentucky present personal property taxes, or the Massachusetts income tax.

TRUSTEE: THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK.

The Hudson River Navigation Corporation has been organized under the laws of the State of Delaware for the purpose of acquiring the properties formerly controlled by the Hudson Navigation Company and its predecessor companies, the Peoples Line and the Citizens Line.

For more than 60 years this line and its predecessors have rendered an essential transportation service upon New York State's great water highway, between New York City and the Cities of Albany and Troy.

Capitalization: 6½% Gold Bonds (this issue) $3,000,000

Cumulative Preferred Stock (Par Value $100) Authorized $1,000,000 Issued and Outstanding $ 375,000

Common Stock (no par) Authorized 60,000 shs. Issued and outstanding 30,000 shs. Reserved for bond conversion 30,000 shs.

Legal Opinion: For F. J. Lisman & Co. By White & Case, New York. By Duncan & Mount, Admiralty Lawyers, New York.

For the Company, By Kenneth K. Mackenzie, New York.

Auditors: Genes & Hartmann, New York, Certified Public Accountants.

Purpose of Issue: To provide funds for final payment for property and for working capital.

Price: 100 less interest from date of payment to May 1, 1926 to yield over 6.70%

The entire issue redeemable by the sinking fund at 105 unless purchased at a lower price in the open market.

These bonds are offered when, as, and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel.

U. S. Chamber to Act On Farm Problems

The principle of self-regulation in agricultural problems will be the keynote of the discussion of farm questions by the United States Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting here May 11 to 13, it was reported from the chamber's offices yesterday.

An extensive discussion will be conducted in regard to agriculture. It will be maintained by the chamber, it is said, that improvement in agriculture must come from the industry's own efforts, just as in all other businesses.

CARLISLE'S MAN O' WAR IN DERBY, HIS OWNER INSISTS

Best Doctors To Examine Horse

Anderson Is Skeptical of Kraft's Decision to Scratch Colt.

Injured Hock Likely to Heal in Week, Is Opinion.

Special to The Washington Post.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25.—Carlisle's man o' war, the Kentucky derby, according to W. T. Anderson, owner of the colt who arrived here today from California.

The proprietor of the English-bred son of Phalaris which started the turf world by winning the Cofroth handicap in almost world record time, arriving at the stable where Carlisle is quartered early this morning.

He was nervously fumbling a newspaper which in black headlines announced that Trainer P. F. Kraft, of New York, in charge of Carlisle, had declared the colt out of the great turf classic to be decided at Churchill Downs here on May 15.

Before he had a chance to glance at Carlisle in a nearby stall at the Douglas park training track, Anderson bumped into Kraft:

"What does this mean, Fred?" Anderson asked his trainer who held out the newspaper which unfolded a story that Carlisle, after winning the Cofroth handicap, equipped in spike shoes suitable for heavy track running, had kicked himself in the right hind hock and that would have become infected so badly it would be impossible to get him ready for the derby.

"I mean every word of it," Kraft replied. "Look at that right hind hock and the swelling, then examine the wound, and you will know why I can't get him ready for the derby."

Anderson did not reply. He walked over to the stall where Carlisle was nibbling away at a liberal helping of oats and California hay. His experienced training eye revealed a slightly enlarged hind hock on Carlisle. There was also a raw, almost bleeding, half-inch cut in the very joint of the hock. Carlisle did not limp. Neither did he show a favoritism to the supposedly injured leg.

"You may know more about Carlisle than I do," Anderson told Kraft, "but I'm going to call in the best veterinarians in this part of the country for a consultation tomorrow, or as soon as they can get here."

Just then a doctor with an electrical machine appeared at Carlisle's stall. He said he could press a button, manipulate the electricity and heal the foot of the hobbled wounded leg within 48 hours.

Anderson ordered one of his attendants, the fellow suspected of being his private secretary, to give the doctor with the electrical machine a chance to prove his statements.

"The derby is so big and I want to win it so badly, we must play square with everyone interested in it," Anderson said.

"I would not advise anyone to bet on Carlisle to win. But many of my friends to whom I have loaned others may win thousands of dollars in the future books if Carlisle can win the derby. They are going to get a run for their money if Carlisle is at all fit on derby day."

A dozen veteran trainers have horses quartered near Carlisle's stable. All agreed it was next to impossible to tell if Carlisle would or would not be ready to race on derby day.

One old timer quartered next door to Carlisle and who is training a Chicago owned derby candidate said it would be possible for Carlisle to start in the derby and be at the top of his form.

"They can get Carlisle ready for the derby if the injured hock does not heal for a week," he said. "It will require only three or four days to limber him up, then work him at his best clip a couple of times and he will go to the post a dead fit colt."

The Anderson stable is a smart betting outfit. Few familiar with thoroughbred racing affairs will even listen to the report that Carlisle is not to start in the derby.

Greek Prelate Talks To Boys at Y.M.C.A.

His Holiness Gennadios, Metropolitan of Thessalonika and honorary president of the Hellenic Y. M. C. A., who is in Washington as the guest of the local Y. M. C. A., was present at a meeting held yesterday at the home of W. S. Corby in Chevy Chase under the auspices of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., of which Coleman Jennings is chairman. Mr. Jennings presided.

His holiness brought greetings from the Greek Y. M. C. A. Admiral Constantine Melas, who is accompanying him on his tour, acted as interpreter and also spoke, telling of the suffering in Greece and congratulating his hearers on their fortunate situation. Tomorrow his holiness and party will visit places of interest near the city, and in the evening will attend a dinner at the Metropolitan club, arranged by the Washington Y. M. C. A.

CORNER STONE IS LAID FOR ST. MARK'S PARISH BY BISHOP FREEMAN

Church and Lay Dignitaries Attend House Ceremony and Confirmation.

CONGREGATION PRAISED FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT

Church Was Pro Cathedral for Diocese Under Bishop Henry Yates Satterlee.

While a gathering of 800 persons bared their heads in commemoration of the building of a new structure for devotional worship, Bishop James E. Freeman laid the corner stone of the new parish house of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Third and A streets southeast, yesterday morning.

The beginning of the exercises was signalled by the crucifer, choir, wardens and vestrymen, acolytes, the visiting and parish clergy, and Bishop Freeman, marching from the parish house and east on A street to the appointed place of the ceremony.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Bishop Freeman. While the corner stone box was being filled with contents monumental of the event, the choir sang two hymns, "The Church's One Foundation," and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." When the mortar was spread, and the stone lowered, Bishop Freeman tapped it thrice in devotional acknowledgment of the Trinity.

Bible Placed in Stone. The Bible was among the articles placed in the corner-stone box, as was also a prayer book and hymnal. A list of the 812 communicants of the church was included, and novel among the articles were five current coins, a half dollar, quarter, dime, nickel and penny.

After the exercises, which were completed in a few minutes, the clergy, choir, wardens and vestrymen returned to the parish house.

At 11 o'clock, 30 minutes after the exercises, the clergy entered the church and passed around it before taking a place in the chancel. Bishop Freeman confirmed a class of 42. The class was presented by the Rev. William Henry Pettus, rector of the church.

In the sermon, Bishop Freeman congratulated the rector and congregation on the accomplishment of building the new parish house. He spoke at length on the history of St. Mark's, which at one time served as the cathedral of the diocese of Washington. St. Mark's was pro cathedral of the diocese which the Rt. Rev. Henry Yates Satterlee was bishop.

Visiting Clergy.

The visiting clergy included the Rev. W. L. DeVries, canon and chancellor of the Washington cathedral; the Rev. William A. Alaker, and the Rev. C. K. P. Cogwell, all formerly connected with the church. The Rev. Pettus was assisted in arranging the services by the Rev. Stephen Webster, assistant rector.

The new parish house, although spoken of as an addition, will virtually take the place of the present one, which will be reconstructed during the summer in order that it may be in accord with it. The house, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy October 1. It will seat 450 persons, and is able to accommodate the rapidly growing Sunday school.

The building committee is: David Meade Lea, chairman; Maj. Joseph H. Wheat, Henry P. Blair, Morris W. Marlow and S. Woodell Frazier.

Heart-Attack Victim Dies in Restaurant

A man, about 40 years old, believed to be S. Blair Clay, of Lexington, Ky., was taken ill in a restaurant at 627 E street northwest, yesterday, and died before medical aid could reach him. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of death from natural causes.

He entered the luncheon shortly before 1 o'clock. Employees summoned Sixth street police and a Casualty hospital ambulance when he was taken ill. He died before the arrival of the ambulance. A postmarked card in his pocket was addressed to S. Blair Clay.

Distributing of War Trophies Up to State

In no case does the War Department exercise jurisdiction over distribution of war trophies within States or municipalities, Secretary of War Davis has explained in answer to numerous inquiries from American Legion posts, municipal officials and others.

There appears to be a misunderstanding as to the responsibility of the War Department in the distribution of war trophies allotted various States and, in accordance with congressional action, Secretary Davis explains, the government is relieved of all responsibility in connection with shipment of trophies after they are loaded on cars at points of storage and accepted by the railway companies. Within the States, the chief executive, or some one appointed by him, makes the allotment to cities and organizations.

PROSECUTION OF WAN ENTERING THIRD WEEK

Case Against Chinese Is Not Expected to Close Before Wednesday.

MAY CALL DR. LI TODAY

The prosecution will begin adding the final pieces of evidence when the murder trial of Ziang Sun Wan enters its third week in criminal court this morning. Wan is charged with killing Ben Sen Wu, one of the victims of the Chinese triple murder of 1919.

United States Attorney Peyton Gordon and his assistant, George D. Horning, Jr., expect to put the last of their witnesses on the stand about Wednesday. After that the defense counsel, which consists of Wilton J. Lambert, Rudolph H. Yeatman and former Senator A. Owsley Stanley, will set about the task of assailing the government's evidence.

Headquarters Detective Edward Kelly will take the witness stand probably some time today. He, together with Capt. Guy Burlingame and Dr. Kang Li, found Wan in New York the day following discovery of the triple murder and brought him back to this city.

It is possible that Dr. Li may take the stand also today. It was Dr. Li who discovered the murder and who persuaded Wan to come here to help solve the crime.

SCIENTISTS TO MEET IN RESEARCH SESSION

Hoover Is Chairman of Board to Obtain Funds for Further Quests.

A limited group of seekers after truth and builders of the fabric of human knowledge will meet here this morning when the National Academy of Sciences opens a three-day session in the Academy of Sciences building at Twenty-first and B streets.

Salient among the things which will be brought out is the gradual dwindling of pure scientific research after fundamental truths under the pressure of the great applied science of modern industry and commerce. The progress made toward saving pure science from this tendency will be reported.

The pressure upon skilled investigators of increased teaching burdens and the desertion of the science laboratory for the industrial laboratory, the chief factors in the destruction of pure science, will be discussed. A committee will confer with Secretary Hoover concerning plans for continuing fundamental research for ten years at least. Secretary Hoover has been appointed chairman of a special board of trustees to obtain the needed funds.

Boy, 2½, Swallows Poison, but Lives

Childish curiosity prompted Junior Lee, 2½ years old, 1119 I street northwest, to swallow three poison tablets which were on the kitchen table in his home yesterday afternoon. The boy was removed to Emergency hospital where medical treatment is believed to have saved his life. After he received first-aid treatment he was allowed to go to his home, evidently none the worse for his experience.

The boy's mother told police that she placed the tablets temporarily on the kitchen table. When she left the room for a moment, police were told, the boy, eager to know what the tablets tasted like, took them from the table and ate them.

Kallipolis Grotto To Hold Ceremonial

Fifty members will be initiated into the Kallipolis grotto at a full form ceremonial session at the President theater, Eleventh street and west, tonight. Delegations from the Samis grotto in Richmond, Va., and the Yeds grotto in Baltimore will attend the ceremonial.

Estes L. Whiting, monarch of Kallipolis, will be in charge of the ceremonial. It is expected that the delegations from Richmond and Baltimore will comprise more than 75 persons. The band of the Samis grotto will be present at the ceremonial tonight.

Barcelona Office Is Opened by U. S.

A new foreign office has been opened by the Department of Commerce in Barcelona, Spain, according to Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

Trade Commissioner J. G. Burke has been placed in charge of the office, having been transferred from Madrid for the assignment.

A request of the veterans bureau for a gun caisson for use in funeral ceremonies of deceased veterans at the bureau's hospital, Fort Bayard, N. Mex., has been granted by Secretary of War Davis.

REPEAL OF BORLAND STATUTE IS FAVORED BY COMMISSIONERS

Col. Bell Declares District Heads Have Made Many Efforts Against Law.

REPLIES TO CRITICISM OF ADVISORY COUNCIL

Modification Seems More Likely Than Cancellation, Official Says.

The District commissioners are unanimously in favor of repeal of the Borland amendment, and have consistently advocated its repeal before Congress, Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, declared last night.

The statement of Col. Bell was in reply to the letter of the citizens' advisory council made public yesterday, protesting against the attitude of the commissioners in failing to "join forces with the rest of the community" in "insistently and persistently urging upon Congress" the repeal of "this unjust and unnecessary law."

Col. Bell explained that every conceivable effort has been made for the past decade to have the law abolished. However, failing in these efforts, he believed the surest method to obtain relief is to make a concerted drive for modification, he said. He added:

"Draft Was Distributed. 'The tentative draft drawn up by the committee which met in my office has been sent to several civic and trade bodies in the hope that some unity of action might be decided upon.'"

"The replies of all these bodies will be received and assembled. 'No action will be taken on the reply of the council until the other organizations are heard from, among them the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants and Manufacturers association.'"

"Whatever action can be determined upon, however, will be presented before Congress at this session in the hope that some relief from the provisions of the law can be secured."

"If every organization, just as the council has done, determines to fight for absolute repeal, then the fight shall be for repeal, and our forces marshaled accordingly. 'But I am inclined to think that modification would be more likely of realization. Not that I think that modification would be as desirable as repeal of the whole law, but I am inclined to prefer repeal to modification. But I have talked with several members of Congress on the subject, and from what they have told me, I do believe there is some chance for modification, but I do not believe there is at this time any chance for repeal.'"

Col. Bell said that the "tentative draft" which the council in its letter stated would extend the application of the amendment to outlying districts from which it has been excluded by "judicial decision" really would not have that effect, but would "clarify" the present dubious application of the law in suburban districts. The Knox decision, referred to by the council in its letter, has rather tended to confuse the application of the bill in outlying sections, he said.

WAR DEPARTMENT FOR SUNDAY SPORTS

Secretary Davis Says Wholesale Recreational Activities for Soldiers Favored.

War Department action on a "blue Sunday" will not be forthcoming, according to Secretary of War Davis, who has received protests from various religious organizations against officers and soldiers participating in athletics on Sunday.

Secretary of Davis explained that it is the policy of the War Department to allow wholesome recreational activities such as baseball, polo or similar sports on military reservations on Sunday where no admission fee is charged, and that an admission fee may be charged in cases where such practice is not in conflict with local laws.

He showed where it would be unjust to deprive soldiers of the opportunity for the same Sunday recreation that are enjoyed by civilians.

With the coming of spring, athletic activities in military posts have become general and both commissioned and enlisted personnel have been encouraged by a War Department general order to engage in some sort of outdoor sport. Baseball appears to be the favorite.

Maryland Forest Fire Damage Is $163,000

Property damage totaling $163,000 was reported in the Maryland forest fire Thursday, and 2,004 acres of timberland was covered with the fire, the official report of George Wiseman, Maryland forest warden, states.

The principal damage was suffered by mature timber in the region of the fire, which was totally destroyed with a damage of $100,000. A loss of $1,365 was done to the few buildings and fences in the path of the fire.

Bureau Gets Caisson. A request of the veterans bureau for a gun caisson for use in funeral ceremonies of deceased veterans at the bureau's hospital, Fort Bayard, N. Mex., has been granted by Secretary of War Davis.

WOODSIDE CHURCH HOLDS DEDICATION OF SCHOOL BUILDING

Structure Is First Unit of New Methodist Episcopal Establishment.

BISHOP W. F. M'DOWELL PRAISES CONGREGATION

Chairman of Board of Trustees Presents Edifice Which Cost $35,000.

The dedication of the new Sunday school building of the Woodside Methodist Episcopal church, Woodside, Md., yesterday, marked the formal completion of the first unit of a structure which, when completed, will be one of the finest church establishments in Montgomery county.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Bishop William F. M'Dowell, of Washington, who congratulated the congregation on their enterprise. The new building was presented by R. M. Helzer, chairman of the board of church trustees.

The building has 32 rooms, and is of colonial architecture. It was built at a cost of $35,000. It will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks. From this beginning it is planned to build, within the next two years, a new church, of which it will be part. The more elaborate church will be similarly designed.

Pastor Presides.

The Rev. Ralph D. Smith, pastor, presided and made an introductory address. A vocal program was given, including a bass solo by Paul Lehman, a soprano solo by Mrs. Hiram Johnson, and selections by the choir under the direction of Mrs. J. N. Shauk.

Bishop John W. Hamilton, chancellor emeritus of American university, preached the sermon at the morning service. The Rev. J. Phelps Hand, District superintendent of the church, delivered the sermon in the evening.

Special exercises in connection with the dedication have been arranged for tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Next Sunday morning, the Rev. John Reid Shannon, of Washington, will preach.

Better Homes Week Will Be Observed

Observance of Better Homes week started in Washington yesterday and will continue until next Sunday. More than 2,000 communities in the United States will observe this week. It is announced by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, who is president of Better Homes in America.

Better Homes week, said Secretary Hoover, is the time when the home and its fundamental place in the nation's life are brought to the foreground. The better homes committees are doing much to develop the practical art of home making, he declared.

U. S. Imports Increase While Exports Decline

Although exports continued greater than imports in the foreign trade of the United States in 1925, there was a decline of exports and increase of imports compared with the previous year, according to a report made by the United States Shipping Board.

There was an increase of both exports and imports in Atlantic and Florida ports, however, but the decline in Gulf and Pacific coast ports caused a general reduction in the export tonnage of nearly 3,000,000 tons. The import tonnage increased more than 2,000,000 tons. The total foreign trade declined nearly half a million tons.

Business Alumni To Banquet Faculty

The Alumni association of Business High school will give a banquet in honor of the faculty of the school and the leaders of school activities tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in the City club.

A special program of speeches and music has been arranged. Alfred McGarragh is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Rathbone to Address Banquet of K. of C.

Representative Henry W. Rathbone, of Illinois, will be the principal speaker at the twenty-ninth anniversary banquet of the Washington council of the Knights of Columbus at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at Rauscher's.

Dr. Leo F. Stock, of the Catholic university, will serve as toastmaster. The program includes several numbers by the St. Patrick's Play-ers. The council plans also to entertain the membership on Thursday evening at Rauscher's with a dance and buffet supper.

Colored Study Club Has Delaware Day

The Republican National Political Study club, meeting yesterday at the Phyllis Wheatley Y. W. C. A., opened a series of State programs with "Delaware day." Miss Jeanette Carter presided. The main speaker was Jerson S. Coage, of Wilmington, Del.

The speaker pointed out that the colored voter in Delaware has the most favorable political status of colored people in any State in the Union for the 30,000 colored voters are responsible for the success of the Republican party, there being 5,000 more white Democrats than white Republicans.
